1. Parking Authority

Jessica Wilmot and Ellen Burns from the Parking Authority discussed increasing parking permit fees from $75/6 months to $100/6 months and implementing violations at EV Charging Stations.

The Authority is proposing a fine for parking a non-EV/hybrid vehicle in an EV Charging parking spot and for parking in an EV Charging parking spot while not charging. Both Barbara Manners and Chris Murray disagreed with implementing fines. Barbara Manners commented that parking is already limited so if a charging spot is open, any vehicle should be able to park in it. Sean Connelly commented that it is frustrating if you need to charge and there is a non-EV/hybrid vehicle in the charging station.

Vincent Giordano, 28 Fairview Drive, suggested labeling the spots with EV only signs first and then start with fines if the signs are being ignored.

Tom McManus, 310 West Lane, commented that the EV Charging Station spots at the mall are the furthest from the entrances to deter others from parking there. Sean Connelly moved to approve an EV Charging Station violation warning trial for two months, effective when the "EV Only" signs are in place and the EV stations are up and running. Warnings will be given to vehicles that are parked at EV charging stations but are not EV or Hybrid, and also for EV vehicles that are parked in those spots but are not charging. Maureen Kozlark seconded. Chris Murray and Barbara Manners opposed. Motion carries 3-2.
